

My International Team

My Team of International Gemmotherapists

I am so honored to introduce you to this fine team of these experts, each bringing their unique experiences and training to offer clients Gemmotherapy protocols to restore immunity. I can attest that each practitioner listed personally walks the talk and remains current on the most up to date information available on Gemmotherapy extracts. Although many are multi-lingual, all are fluent in English and offer remote sessions wherever you are in the world. To book a session, you may reach out to them individually via the contact information provided.
