

My Learning Community

Dive into the World of Gemmotherapy

What does it mean to restore immunity?

How do we really heal?

These are two questions I've been exploring for years. And after years of researching and learning on my own, I eventually discovered that with the support of a small circle of colleagues my explorations were richer, my understanding deeper, and honestly I was having more fun!

This makes perfect sense because we are hardwired for connection.

This is why I created my International Gemmo Community.

What will you gain?

- An engaged group of curious and connected seekers coming together from all over the world
- On-demand foundational and advanced lessons, continually refined and revised to align with my current (and ever-evolving!) understanding of the healing potential of Gemmo extracts
- Live weekly events with Lauren to stay abreast of the latest Gemmo discoveries
- The most comprehensive (and only!) online Materia Medica for Gemmo Extracts
- A recording library with a wealth of information from past events for you to peruse at your leisure

Who is this community for?

- Health practitioners from all backgrounds and all who seek opportunities to deepen their relationship with their health and well-being
- Your monthly membership gets you access to all of this.

Join My Gemmo Community Now