Vegan Zucchini Fritters

This is a handy recipe to have around when there happens to be a few assorted vegetables but not enough of anything to make a full meal. These fritters have become a family favorite for sure and there is never a leftover in sight. That was even true today when we doubled the recipe in an attempt to use up more veggies from the garden!

Ingredients

4 cups shredded zucchini (about 4 medium-size zucchini) — sub out for any grated vegetable. I like summer squash but root vegetables are also good.

1 and 1/2 cups corn kernels (about 8 ounces) — fresh or frozen

3/4 cup finely chopped green onions (about 6 green onions)

- 1 finely chopped sweet pepper
- 1 and 1/4 cup chickpea flour
- 2 heaping teaspoons of your choice of italian seasoning, herbs provence, or garam masala

salt & pepper to taste

Directions

- 1.Grate zucchini, lightly salt and let sit in a colander to drain excess water while you prep the rest of the ingredients
- 2.Chop green onions and sweet pepper
- 3. Combine corn, green onions, chickpea flour, garlic, cumin, oregano, thyme, salt & pepper in large mixing bowl.
- 4. Press zucchini into sieve to remove last bit of water and add to the veggie and flour mixture.

- 5.Stir together until well combined. Allow to sit for at least 5 minutes. This step is important because the flour will absorb the moisture from the zucchini and create a batter.
- 6.Add water a TBL at a time if needed.
- 7.Warm a large non-stick skillet over medium heat.
- 8.Add coconut oil or sunflower oil for cooking oil. When oil is hot drop large TBL of mixture into the pan. After 3-4 mins flip and cook the remaining side.

Seve these after a large green salad with your choice of this herbed cashew cream or possibly this tomato chutney (replacing the brown sugar with maple syrup to taste). Both are equally delicious!
